Co-Chairs' Welcome

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the entry into force of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), including one of the first environmental side agreements to a free trade agreement. This year's conference theme of energy, natural resources, and the environment, inspires a discussion of cross-cutting issues under international law such as trade and investment, corporate social responsibility, sustainable development, and human rights.

Legal practitioners in Canada are developing an increasingly necessary understanding of international law due to the proliferation of international treaties governing corruption, trade, and human rights. Businesses are demonstrating a serious concern with anti-corruption laws and international arbitration. Renewable energy issues under WTO dispute settlement have attracted the scrutiny of Canadian media. The international human rights community is increasingly critical of the direct and indirect role of corporations in human rights abuses committed overseas. This conference offers academics and practitioners a unique opportunity to further the dialogue on these issues, among others, in a setting where theory meets practice.

We are delighted to welcome our distinguished guests from both within Canada and abroad. We hope that this conference fosters new relationships within our growing community and new ideas that empower all participants to deepen their knowledge of international law.

Thank you for participating in the 2014 Annual Conference.
