ABOUT THE CCIL

The Canadian Council on International Law (CCIL) was established in 1972 to promote dialogue and analysis of international legal issues within Canada and around the world. The CCIL is uniquely branded as bringing together a diverse range of sectors within the legal profession, namely academia, private law firms, NGO's, and government, in furtherance of in-depth discussions of international law. A further objective is to deepen and broaden relations between Canadian international jurists and their counterparts in other parts of the world.

Today, the CCIL has grown into an organization with over 400 members globally and hosts the largest annual international law conference in the country.

SPONSORSHIP OF THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The Annual Conference is attended by 300 to 400 professionals each year from across Canada and around the globe, including 90-120 highly-respected speakers.

Sponsoring the Annual Conference is an excellent opportunity to promote your organization and increase its visibility among leading international law practitioners. This year's Conference, entitled "The Promise of International Law: Solutions for the World's Crises" will be held November 3 to 5, 2016, at Global Affairs Canada in Ottawa. The theme was designed to provide a hopeful message on the world stage.
